Quality & Performance

We take pride in the quality of product we produce. Our springs are wound from the highest quality spring material available. The springs are stress relieved in a continuous oven, trimmed to remove all sharp edges, shot peened to increase fatigue life, and set removed to guarantee the springs do not sag over time. We have state of the art load testing capabilities to ensure that the coil springs conform to the required load and rate specifications. The finished product can be powder coated or shipped with plain finish as required.
